

"CHEESE IT, THE GAME'S PINCHED"

Long Island Railroad Puts the Ban on Cards and There's War Among Commuters.

STOP RIOTOUS REVELS.

Wicked Pinochle, Whist and Euchre Cut Out, but Passengers Still May Read Tracts and Papers.

The Long Island Railroad has banned cards. To-day special policemen employed by the road went through the trains and ferried out and raised the poker, euchre, pinochle, whist and other provincial games. Mighty is the swelling wrath of the commuters and mass meetings are organizing for the purpose of denouncing the high handed acts of the railroad company in stamping upon the rights of its patrons.

For years the weary hours of inland Long Island journeys have been willed away in pleasant contests with the cards. From Long Island City to the Montauk ditch, from Whitestone Landing to Rockaway, from Oyster Bay to Sea View, and wherever the arteries of Long Island traffic lead the commuter has had a free hand to play.

Must Play No More.

But now those glad days are over. The edict has gone forth to stop all games whether played merely as a mental diversion or in the hope of wresting from a fellow commuter. And the baggage men are sore, for no longer may they work their simple little craft of a quarter for the hire of a pack of greasy cards.

Mayor George Jacobson, of Whitestone, shrewdest euchre player on that division, declares the act of the company in stopping cards should be denounced with a thunder of denunciation.

"Where are our rights as citizens and commuters?" asks Mayor Jacobson. "Is it a crime to soften the dull hours of weary travel in a friendly game of euchre or pinochle? What would it be if there are some sanctimonious croakers? They need not rule in the smoker and be disturbed by the presence of the terrible gamblers of Flushing and Whitestone."

"I admit there have been some games for stakes as high as 10 cents a corner, but I never heard of any tragedies across the sewing boards we used as improvised tables. Men have called each other such names as 'robber' and 'blackwit' when an ace has been inadvertently trumped in whist, but of any more dreadful profanity I have heard none."

Not "Real" Wicked.

"For twenty years I have played euchre and never been interfered with. Occasionally I have taken hand in a small game of draw poker when the ante was only a fraction of a cent. Now and then I have plunged in pinochle to the extent of a quarter, but that is the limit of my immoral life. I may as well play only in jail, or skill, enjoying the harmless badinage of one another."

As far as I can learn the cause of the company's monstrous persecution of its commuters is that complaints have been made that stools were used for tables on ferry-boats, depriving several passengers of the privilege of a seat on deck. I declare that this charge is unfounded. We will have to build a man-riding and get by regulations if we wish to be set back in our rights, and this I am going to see to at once."

MANY SHOTS FIRED IN SALOON FIGHT

Place Wrecked, but No One Hurt in Battle Between Men and Women.

In a fight between men and women in the rear room of the Lexington Hotel, a resort at One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street and Lexington avenue, to-day, three shots were fired. Bullets passed through the mirrors and the front door of the place, but the police say no one was injured.

After the shooting men and women, some of them intoxicated, all screaming and cursing, ran to the street and made for One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. The police reserves from the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station were called. They arrested George Dillon, of No. 1267 Park avenue, on suspicion that he did the shooting.

Dillon was on a passing trolley car when he was pointed out by a woman, who told the police: "That was the man with the gun."

Dillon denied that he had been in the Lexington.

BIG FIRE LOSS IN OLD CITY LAST YEAR

Both Number of Blazes and Average Damage Increased Over Figures of 1904.

Greater fire losses than in any preceding year are reported for the year 1905 by Peter Seery, Fire Marshal, in his annual report to Commissioner O'Brien. The Fire Marshal complains that his force is inadequate, and declares that the four policemen who were detailed to his office, but removed, are needed, as is also an interpreter.

There were for the year 1905 in the boroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond 7,750 fires, an increase of 201 fires over 1904. The total estimated loss amounted to $2,711,555, an increase of $741 over the preceding year. The average loss per fire was $350.25, an increase of $30.05 over the previous year's average.

The following is a summary for the three boroughs:

	No. of Estimated Average Fires	Losses
Manhattan	6,797	$2,100,673
The Bronx	601	$734,127
Richmond	352	$78,500
Total	7,750	$2,711,555

At 3,337 of the fires the losses were less than $10, and in 2,644 the loss was less than $100 each, and in 1,297 others the amount of loss was less than $1,000. The principal causes of fires were:

Carelessness with matches	767
Children playing with matches	244
Carelessness with lighted cigars	419
Overheated stoves, stovepipes, etc.	443
Chimney fires, defective flues, etc.	429
Bonfires and brush fires	425
Carelessness in use of candles, etc.	256
Gaslights in contact with curtains, etc.	217
Kerosene oil lamps, etc., exploding	156

There were 2,681 fires, the causes of which could not be positively ascertained. Most of them, as far as investigation could go, were probably due to carelessness with matches or with lighted cigars or cigarettes.

There were fifty-seven arrests during the year for arson and fourteen convictions.

The Fire Marshal had to examine 2,006 witnesses in cases during the year.

"I have been surprised," said the Marshal, "to find many cases among the poorer classes where three or more persons board or lodge in one family, in the same suite of rooms, were each in possession of a fire insurance policy. They, in most cases, had nothing outside of wearing apparel in the premises, the value of which represented but a small fraction of the amount of their policies."

"I am informed that no trouble was experienced in procuring these policies from agents. Moreover, they seem to have the delusion that all would parake in a large claim in case of a fire on the premises. This idea, no doubt, is often the cause for negligence which results in fire, if not sometimes an incentive to arson."

RHEUMATISM

TROUBLESOME PAINS AND ACHES

While Rheumatism is usually worse in Winter because of the cold and dampness of a changing atmosphere, it is by no means a Winter disease entirely. Persons in whose blood the uric acid, which produces the disease, has collected, feel its troublesome pains and aches all the year round. The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by the accumulation in the system of refuse matter, which the natural avenues of bodily waste have failed to carry off. This refuse matter coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid which is absorbed by the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. Rheumatic persons are almost constant sufferers; the nagging pains in joints and muscles, are ever present under the most favorable climatic conditions, while exposure to dampness or an attack of indigestion will often bring on the severest symptoms even in warm, pleasant weather. Liniments, plasters, lotions, etc., relieve the pain and give the sufferer temporary comfort, but are in no sense curative; because Rheumatism is not a disease that can be rubbed away or drawn out with a plaster. S. S. S. is the best treatment for Rheumatism; it goes down into the blood and attacks the disease at its head, and by neutralizing the acid and driving it out, and building up the thin, sour blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, S. S. S. will not injure the system in the least. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice without charge.
